

Young Ethical Explorers hosts
DUO-WORKSHOP SESSIONS WITH SPECIAL GUEST:
Dr. Bentley Gibson

THE BIAS ADJUSTER: Dr. Bentley Gibson, Associate Professor of Psychology at Georgia Highland College, leads an all-ages workshop for becoming greater agents in promoting equity and inclusion, increasing positive intergroup behaviors and practices, and reducing prejudice and discrimination. How we play makes a difference in the world!

Ally-Building Bias-Awareness Workshop With Dr. Bentley Gibson With Dr. Bentley Gibson’s guidance and expertise, children will openly discuss and workshop important and often hidden issues underlying inclusivity and equality. They can dig under the surface of society’s tensions, for the ways implicit bias often blocks essential and fair connections between people. By becoming aware of bias, children can build conscious allied relationships of support to stand up for what is right. Newcomers are welcome!	February’s First Sundays Intergenerational Event: “Black Inventors and Contributors,” with Dr. Bentley Gibson Participants, please come prepared to present research about a black inventor or contributor to society. You will share what you learned by “Being Them.” Each child-presenter speaks as the person they’ve researched — and can bring a prop that helps represent that person. The inventors and contributors will be entered on a time/space map to make connections about history, and interactive stories will emerge from this jigsaw-style learning. All Ethical members are invited to attend! So are people from other Ethical Societies and other faith communities valuing ETHICS!
